

Invitation

Dear members, friends, affiliates and sponsors,

We are absolutely delighted to open abstract submission and registration for the upcoming hybrid 6th EHTG meeting in beautiful Palma de Mallorca.

Day one (Thursday) and day 3 (Saturday) will be f2f and virtual, whereas on Friday, only one of the three parallel working groups will be available online for all. The available places will be allocated to accepted and invited speakers and chairs followed by a first come first get registration.

As always, our main focus will be to discuss the newest hot topics in all areas of research and clinical management for patients with hereditary cancer predisposition syndromes.

As previously and strongly endorsed by participants, day 2 will be dedicated to 3 parallel working groups during the entire day.

This year, we will showcase the best abstracts in the plenary session – this is a real opportunity!

We will also place a focus on new and evolving technologies, so make sure to make clear in the text of your abstract which technological areas it is relevant to.

Join us in the debates that will be on controversial and provocative topics! Last but not least we will elaborate on State of the art lectures.

Importantly, this year will offer an open platform to patient societies and networking. We wish to promote international collaboration in this field and hope that many patients and patient societies will get in touch and join us in person or virtually in Palma.

Last but not least we also invite industry relevant to diagnostic and therapeutic aspects of hereditary cancer syndromes to host a lunch symposium on hot topics.

Please visit the website www.ehtg.org for more information and contact gs007@ehtg.org for all organizational issues and any of the board members if you any suggestions.

Kind regards

Your EHTG Board
